Albioma Foundation honoured with the 2025 Overseas Engagement Award

During the gala evening of the 33rd ACCD'OM congress and the 10th anniversary of Outremers 360°, the very first edition of the Overseas Engagement Awards 2025 was held on Friday 14 November. Among the winners, the Albioma Foundation was recognised for its work in favour of biodiversity.

This award highlights the Foundation's commitment in the French overseas territories, where it focuses on two areas of action: biodiversity conservation and professional integration.

"This distinction pays tribute to the Foundation's partners who are committed on the ground every day, and confirms the relevance of our approach: acting locally to protect, restore and pass on," said Sébastien Baijard Lacavé, Head of the Albioma Foundation.

This recognition marks an important milestone in the Foundation's development and reaffirms the Group's determination to contribute to the dynamism and the natural and human wealth of the French overseas territories.

About Albioma

Albioma is an energy producer committed to the energy transition through biomass, solar power and geothermal energy.

The Group is established in the French overseas territories, mainland France, Mauritius, Brazil, Canada, Australia and Turkey.

For more than 30 years, it has developed a unique partnership with the sugar industry to produce renewable energy from bagasse, the fibrous residue of sugarcane. Albioma is also the leading producer of solar energy in the French overseas territories, where it develops and operates innovative storage-equipped projects, as well as in mainland France. Since 2021, the Group has been expanding into geothermal energy, with the acquisition of two plants in Turkey.

Albioma is committed to long-term partnerships to ensure the production of reliable and sustainable energy. Our teams develop and implement bespoke solutions to accelerate the energy transition.
